Sharing the Campus Experience: Hosting Effective Campus Visits

Campus visits are a pivotal activity in a recruitment cycle, and often determine whether or not a student will apply for admission. Sharing the Campus Experience: Hosting Effective Campus Visits helps administrators create campus visit experiences that engage prospective families and authentically demonstrate the culture of their institution. This 55-page book offers perspectives on how to recruit best-fit students using such things as story-telling and student tour guides who “get real” about the triumphs and challenges of campus life. It also recommends involving faculty, employing visits coordinators, allocating funds towards site visits, and striking a balance between a fixed visit format and constant program development.

AACRAO's Professional Development Guidelines for Registrars: A Self-Assessment

For nearly 40 years, AACRAO has published the Self-Assessment, and this 185-page update will provide a cost effective and simple way to evaluate your office operations by stimulating thought, encouraging self-reflection, and evaluating policies and procedures. The Assessment is arranged by topical area with chapters addressing most basic registrar functions. Within each chapter are Basic Principles, which provide a foundation for the discussion topic and guide the development of the questions that follow. The questions give direction, evoke thought, and allow for a variety of approaches to a given topic. Action Plan items are provided to expand your expertise and allow more in-depth study of a topic. Finally, a Further Reading section has been added to the end of each chapter to direct the reader to useful resources on the topics discussed.

Current Trends in Grades and Grading Practices in Higher Education: Results of the 2004 AACRAO Survey

AACRAO's publication Current Trends in Grades and Grading Practices in Higher Education: Results of the 2004 AACRAO Survey continues the tradition of surveying grading practices in higher education first begun in 1920. Although much has changed in the world of academia since, grades have remained a central feature. This consistent importance and interest, as well as our members' role as the guardians of academic records, has been the impetus for AACRAO's continued study of grades and grading practices in American colleges and universities. The most recent study prior to this one was conducted in 1992.

The Work of the Registrar: A Summary of Principles and Practices in American Universities and Colleges

Take a walk down Memory Lane... In 1940 when AACRAO's The Work of the Registrar was written: Yale tuition was fifty dollars per quarter; colleges had curfews for women and dress codes; the average salary was $1,299 annually; first class stamps were three cents; and colleges sent progress reports home to parents. Read about what's changed since then and what hasn't in The Work of the Registrar: A Summary of Principles and Practices in American Universities and Colleges. Written by Alma H. Preinkert, registrar at the University of Maryland from 1935 to 1954, it became an invaluable reference guide for all registrars during the 1940's. Current members of the profession should find this to be an interesting historical read. While the methods used to admit, register and maintain records have changed dramatically with computers and web based systems, the basic mission of the registrar's office has not.

The AACRAO 2010 FERPA Guide

For over 30 years, AACRAO's FERPA Guide has provided valuable guidance and training materials to help institutional record-keepers understand and comply with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, as Amended (FERPA). Building on previous editions, the 2010 Guide provides updates throughout based on January 2009 regulatory changes; adds an extensive collection of FPCO-issued opinion letters; and takes up a new discussion on the intersection between FERPA and HIPAA. Under the expert editorial oversight of LeRoy Rooker, former Director, Family Policy Compliance Office at the U.S. Department of Education, special attention is given to topics such as health and safety emergencies, legitimate educational interest, an expanded definition of disclosure, limitations on use of social security numbers, status of contractors under FERPA, and de-identifying records.

The International Guide: A Resource for International Education Professionals

This comprehensive resource provides a solid foundation of knowledge for professionals working in the ever-evolving field of international education. Its twenty-three chapters contain compelling overviews of the current and future states of the field, as well as chapters on core issues such as international recruitment and enrollment management, technology, study abroad, undocumented students, fraudulent documents, and the continuing saga of the Bologna Process, which has been sweeping Europe for over a decade. As a critical part of any international reference library, it also includes practical guidance on vital concerns such as international credential evaluation, office policies and procedures, undergraduate and graduate admissions questions, community college issues, student visas, and English proficiency assessment, often in a how-to format.

The AACRAO 2010 FERPA Quick Guide

Would you like a quick reference on essential FERPA information? The FERPA Quick Guide may be just what you need. Designed to give staff and faculty members key facts on their role in FERPA compliance, this short publication provides a basic overview of the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, as amended, the full text of the recently revised FERPA regulations that became effective in January 2009, and a summary of new changes to the regs. This guide highlights how the Act applies to various school officials, including brief outlines of key terms and issues as well as commonly asked questions. It includes a short quiz for self-assessment. To obtain a more detailed analysis and application of the Act, as well as extensive FERPA training materials and case studies, refer to the AACRAO 2010 FERPA Guide.

The AACRAO Academic Record and Transcript Guide

For over 60 years, AACRAO has provided guidance and best practices on keeping, protecting and disseminating transcript information. The AACRAO 2011 Academic Record and Transcript Guide continues this trend, offering useful recommendations concerning the appropriate placement of more than fifty data elements in the institutional database and the transcript, giving records professionals guidance on the integrity, ease of interpretation, and technological and privacy aspects of transmission of transcripts. It develops the discussion on best practices for electronic data storage and security training for staff; notation of SSNs, academic and disciplinary actions, and course mode of delivery on the transcript; requirements for change of name and gender; transcribing nontraditional work and CEUs; and includes 2009-10 survey results of the AACRAO membership on current transcript practices and opinions.

These studies of international educational systems include information on institutions, admission and program requirements, the grading system, credentials awarded, continuing education, study abroad, and linkages with U.S. institutions. Sample documents and placement recommendations approved by the National Council on the Evaluation of Foreign Educational Credentials appear generally in the full-country and workshop reports.

Country Studies are in-depth reports of another country's educational system and include placement recommendations. Special Reports do not include placement recommendations. The World Education Series was sponsored originally by AACRAO; publications issued by the Joint Committee on Workshops were joint projects of AACRAO and NAFSA; the World Education Series is now published by the Projects for International Education Research (PIER) Committee of AACRAO/NAFSA and The College Board. The PIER collaboration was terminated in 2002 and future studies of international education systems will be published under the AACRAO International Education Series.
